

BEYOND the Training

When you attend training you are making an investment in your future. Often times however, when we return to our programs, life happens and we forget to use what we learn. CCR&R has created Beyond the Training as way of making training 'stick'.

"Research shows that, on average, students forget 70 percent of what we teach within 24 hours of the training experience." (Kohn, 2014). What you learn is critical to what children learn from you therefore, CCR&R is committed to the concept behind Beyond the Training. This is a FREE service.

Before the Training

A Specialist will contact you via e-mail to share with you to help you start thinking about the training.

After the Training

You will receive several 'boosts' via e-mail that will require very little on your part, each boost will have a different purpose. These boosts will help you retain what you learned.

Final step

You will be contacted to see if you are interested in technical assistance to help you transfer what you learn during the training to the workplace.

Beyond the Training,
because what you do
after the training is just as important as the training itself!
